

Conflict minerals policy statement

Baker Hughes is committed to the responsible sourcing of all materials and components necessary to the functionality of the products that we manufacture or contract to manufacture, and to working towards a conflict-free mineral supply chain.

Baker Hughes expects its suppliers to adopt policies and management systems to supply materials, products, and components that are conflict-free and to in turn require their suppliers to adopt similar policies, systems and socially responsible sourcing practices.